How do I use Your Money Line and what kind of questions can I ask?

Your Money Line Financial Guides can answer any of your financial (non-securities) questions. For example:

- I'm drowning in credit card debt. How do I pay it off?
- I need help with paying off my student loans. Where should I start?
- Can you help me decide whether we should rent or buy a home?
- I've inherited money and don't know what to do with the unexpected money.
- Should I purchase term or whole life insurance?
- I'd like to start saving for my child's college expenses. Where do I start?
- I feel like I am doing well financially, is there anything I could improve?

Will the Financial Guide try to sell me anything?

Your Money Line Financial Guides will never try to sell you anything. They are only in the business of providing answers and actionable financial help. Your trained guide will follow up with you after the call to document next steps. You can call or email the line as often as you need. Your personal profile will be saved so you can reference previous conversations.

Is Your Money Line available in Spanish?

A Spanish speaking Financial Guide is available if you call in or email your money questions, however, at this time the dashboard and webinar resources are English only.
